OSRJL

OXFORD SCHOOL OF RARE JEWISH LANGUAGES LECTURE

Week 7

Dr. Carlos Yebra López (New York University)

'The Digital Revitalization of Ladino in the 21st Century'

Dr. Carlos Yebra López holds a PhD in Spanish from New York University, where he currently works as a postdoctoral teaching fellow. His research focuses on the revitalisation of Ladino by digital means. He is the co-founder and CEO of Ladino 21 Community Interest Company, a public outreach initiative and digital archive devoted to grassroots documentation of Ladino. He is the author of the recent journal article 'The Digital (De)territorialization of Ladino in the 21st century' (Word: Journal of the International Linguistic Association, 2021). This academic year he is teaching Ladino at the Oxford School of Rare Jewish Languages, and will be a visiting fellow at CRASSH, Cambridge in Easter Term 2022.
